

Change the direct speech into indirect speech.

"I like my bike," he said.

She said, "I come from New Zealand."

"Jenna meets her friend every afternoon," she said.

He said, "Tom hates anchovies on a pizza."

He said, "I'm going to work in the fruit shop."

"I love my job working in the dress shop," she said.

"Do you have any children Terri?" she asked.

"Do you want to live in Paris, Brendon?" Marcie asked.

"I live three blocks away from here," she said.

"What's your name?" she said.

