| Spiders   |                   | Name                             | :                         |
|---|-------------------|----------------------------------|---------------------------|
|   |                   |                                  |                           |
| SPIDERS   | •                 | of a spider. Label the following | ng parts: fangs, abdomen, |
| spiders   | cephalothorax, ex | xoskeleton and spinneret.        |                           |
| arachnids   |                   |                                  |                           |
| fangs   |                   |                                  |                           |
| legs  |                   |                                  |                           |
| hairs   |                   |                                  |                           |
| abdomen   |                   |                                  |                           |
| cephalothorax                                       |                   |                                  |                           |
| exoskeleton   |                   |                                  |                           |
| spinneret   |                   |                                  |                           |
| silk  | How mar           | ny legs do spiders have?         |                           |
| Fill in the missing word with a word from the list. |                   |                                  |                           |
|   | include spi       | ders, scorpions, mites, and ti   | icks.                     |
| An  | is a rigio        | l external covering for the b    | ody.                      |
| Α   | is an orga        | an by means of which a spid      | er spins a silky thread.  |
|   | are small cr      | eatures with eight legs.         |                           |
| Α   | is the hea        | nd and chest on crustaceans      | and arachnids.            |
|   | is a fine, str    | ong, soft thread produced b      | by a spider.              |
| Write each word in a sentence.                      |                   |                                  |                           |
| spiders   |                   |                                  |                           |
| arachnids   |                   |                                  |                           |
| fangs   |                   |                                  |                           |

silk _____

hairs _____